The Palomar Health PGY1-Pharmacy Residency is based at Palomar Medical Center in Escondido, California. Residents completing this program will learn to provide evidence-based pharmacology. Major selling points of the residency are personal attention to foster learning, developing a clinical mindset and an emphasis on becoming pharmacy leaders. Opportunity exists to mature in one's practice, manage and improve the medication-use process and enhance drug information skills. Residents are required to complete a research project during the year.
